To Whom it May Concern,

We have inspected a certain Ford RS 200 Evolution Rally vehicle (Chassis # 068) and find the following:

This is a very rare car that was produced in limited numbers by Ford's European Race Center to contest the world championship rallies. This particular car carries a lot of significance in the collector and racing enthusiast market. Having successful finishing results in European championship rallies from 1987 thru 1991. From there the Royal Palace of Jordan (King Hussein) became the owner. Its condition is as originally raced and it has all the rare factory upgrades necessary for competition. We have reviewed the documentation and are satisfied to its originality, provenance, and mechanical specification. We feel that this particular car carries a value in excess of $550,000.00 dollars. This is based on similar vehicles and their sales prices over the past couple of years.

Sincerely Yours

David Bouzaglor
